

Making Your Senior Center - and Community Spaces - Hearing Friendly

August 18, 2pm via Zoom

NJAAW and the NJ Association of Senior Centers (NJASC) invites you to a virtual event to help you make your senior center – or community space – more accessible for people with hearing loss

Hearing loss is common among older adults and often goes undiagnosed – or laughed off as part of aging. Even a slight hearing change can make it difficult for people to enjoy group activities, conversations, and community events. When spaces are designed with hearing-impaired individuals in mind, more people can fully participate in conversations, events, and social settings.

Join us to learn about technology, resources and training available to senior centers and their members. We will also learn how simple modifications can have a big impact on making your space more hearing friendly.

Speakers:

- Elizabeth Hill, Executive Director, Division Of The Deaf And Hard Of Hearing, New Jersey Department Of Human Services
- Colette Reasonover, NJAAW Intern and Rutgers DSW candidate

Small changes can create a welcoming environment where everyone can fully participate. Make Your Space More Inclusive!

Register here

New Jersey Advocates for Aging Well | 3705 Quakerbridge Road Ste 102 | Hamilton, NJ 08619 US

Unsubscribe | Update Profile | Constant Contact Data Notice

Try email & social marketing for free!