SENIOR PLANET FROM AARP

Senior Planet Licensing Program

Senior Planet's licensing program powerfully equips local communities to help older adults access technology and use it to enhance their lives.

It's a digital world, and the unconnected are left behind. Senior Planet from AARP's technology training classes do more than just teach seniors how to use technology: they address marginalization and isolation among older adults, building a community of seniors who are empowered to accomplish their goals.

Designed especially for older learners, Senior Planet curriculum encompasses a broad range of topics, from connecting with friends and family virtually, using email and browsing the web, and saving money on utilities, to using telemedicine and improving workforce skills.

The Senior Planet licensing program trains and supports senior-serving organizations to deliver Senior Planet programs (in-person) to older adults in their area. The program is free of charge, with the goal of bringing world-class technology training to seniors across the country.

What the program offers:

- ✓ Access to a large suite of Senior Planet curriculum
- ✓ Trainer coaching, support, and ongoing professional development
- ✓ Tools and special guidance for program administrators
- ✓ Technology guidance and recommendations for delivering programming
- ✓ Access to a digital program support center
- ✓ Ongoing communication around tech news, profiles of other participating organizations, and new program offerings
